WHEELING, JULY 24, 1893.

Keep Off the Rocks, Mr. President.

The President has done well to call Congress to repeal the provision requiring the purchase of silver. To that let him add an appeal to Congress to let the tariff alone. That will help things mightily, for the country believes that President Cleveland has influence with his party.

Every Republican in Congress will be on his side of the tariff question if he takes his stand on the right side. There may be Democrats who will insist that the tariff plank of their party are charts that the party must sail by. But every man of them can see that to do that will be to drive the country on the rocks of disaster, whither it is already drifting.

It would be the highest statesmanship and the highest patriotism to head back for the haven of prosperity. There may come a time when the Democratic free trade chart will do to sail by, but this is another kind of time.

Let the President urge his party to do right and do what he can to keep it from going wrong. That would rob the Republicans of an enormous stock of campaign thunder, but they will have enough without that and the President need not concern himself for the welfare of a party which did its level best to defeat him.

By the time his state repeals his liquor law the governor of South Carolina will be able to command a job as a dispenser of the ardent. He wants it understood that his great establishment is "personally conducted."

Struck a High Note.

Theodore Thomas is said to be drawing about $20,000 a year for his services at the fair, $12,000 for directing the music and $8,000 for the use of his valuable library. But what troubles Mr. Thomas is that he is not drawing anything.

The director-general refuses to sign the voucher and the auditor says that without that voucher no signed money will be paid out. If Mr. Thomas can get his money he will be getting by far the biggest slice of anybody connected with the fair.

It is not for the common herd to say that Theodore Thomas is not worth any price he can get for his services, and that his musical library would not be cheap at any price for the mere satisfaction of having it stored in Jackson Park.

It is said of Senator David B. Hill that he does not drink, smoke, swear, gamble or eat dainties. What a lot of fun that man is missing.

A Little Trick.

A correspondent of Tin and Tarn, writing from California, tells why the tin of the Tomocul mine, in spite of its excellent quality, is cutting no figure in the market. Shipments from this mine to England and Germany attracted attention and the mine owners of Wales and England lost no time in hatching a scheme to control what promised to be a dangerous American rival. While they were about it they took in the Tomocul and Harney Peak properties and stopped production almost entirely.

If we are determined to make tin plate the foreigners are determined that we shall make it out of foreign tin. When they got tired of this policy the American mines will be reopened.

This time the negro is lynched in Tennessee. Can't they enter one of these affairs as a World's Fair exhibit for the edification of visitors?

Only Gentlemen May be Killed.

M. Judet edits the most numerous circulated newspaper in the world, Le Petit Journal of Paris, but in the opinion of the experts in such matters he is not gentleman enough to be killed in a duel. He wanted to have an affair of honor with Clemenceau, but it has been decided that since Judet is not a gentleman, he cannot insult anybody and therefore cannot have a duel with anybody that is anybody.

Instead of this verdict making M. Judet the happiest journalist in France he looks on it as having blighted his promising career. The privilege of being killed like a gentleman is very dear to the French heart, and a French journalist would rather have his inkwell smashed than thus to be numbered among the social outcasts.

On this side of the ocean journalists have not time to amuse themselves with the duel.

CINCINNATI is a great place for romances, and its newspapers are right up with the procession.

Government Silver Purchases.

Under the act of Congress the treasury is directed to buy monthly 4,500,000 ounces of silver. It is not said that this silver shall be the product of American mines, although doubtless it was supposed that it would be. Certainly it should be, all other things being equal.

It happens, however, that the American silver producers put their heads together and determined to make the government pay more for their product than its market price. They say that they fix the price. The secretary of the treasury holds that the London quotation fixes the price. London certainly fixes the price for the world, at least so much of the world as does not include the American silver men in their lofty act of going at their own government with a club.

The secretary of the treasury says he will pay the market price and no more. If American holders do not like that they may continue to hold and the government will supply itself elsewhere. The secretary is so clearly right that to state the case sweeps away all opposing argument.

Our impression, of course for private consumption only, is that the deposed silver kings will not be able to drive Secretary Carlisle.

A Charge of Army Brutality.

The case of Captain Mackay of the army is worthy of the attention it is receiving in the form of a court martial. If this officer be guilty as charged he will have to find some other way of making a living. He is charged with causing two soldiers to be strung up by the wrists, one of them for half an hour.

Army officers have been quick to condemn this treatment as unnecessary, inhuman and unlawful, and to brand the offender as unfit to command men. The officer who cannot maintain discipline without resorting to barbarous punishments has mistaken his calling and imposed upon the country. There is no place for him in the military service of the United States.

SILVER should remember that a de-throned king isn't in it to any great extent.

The Maharajah is Married.

It is too utterly bad that his highness, the maharajah of Kapurthala, is a married man. He is young, handsome, the ruler of two millions of people and has wealth by the barrel. He has diamonds enough to make a dozen women wild with delight.

Unmarried he would be the finest specimen of the tame lion that has recently come to these shores. As a summer resort attraction he would outshine a gross of European princes, counts and the like. But he is married, and the maharajahs is beautiful and accompanies him, and what might have been can't be, and there you are. This is a new complication of the silver question.

The Russian government is fighting the Standard Oil Company through freight rates, in order to give the Baku product a better chance in the markets of Europe. If the row becomes serious the Standard will send an agent over there and buy Russia out of her own territory.

In another column Mr. Elkins makes an interesting review of the business situation. He doesn't believe that silver is responsible for all that has come upon the country, and he doesn't believe in letting the Democratic party get away from its just responsibility.

There is said to be "quiet in Germany." Why not? Hasn't the emperor got things all his own way? He isn't going to kick up a row and the others know it would be useless. Once something was said about making a desert and calling it peace.

Missouri river communities begin to think it is not well to draw a water supply from a great sewer. We think this along the Ohio river, but we don't like to back our thoughts with our good money. There is a theory that it is cheaper to die.

A CORRESPONDENT writing from the fair tells of the foreign signs he sees. For example, "Ici on parle Francaise," and "Habitos Espanoles." Is it possible that the French so soon forget their French, the Spanish their Spanish?

BREAKFAST BUDGET.

A curious operation, says The Hospital, has been reported to the French Ophthalmological Society. A boy of thirteen, after injury to his eyelid, had it so severely contracted that he could no longer close his eye. Accordingly an incision was made in the eyelid and tiny fragments of frog skin were inserted in a kind of chequer work. It adhered perfectly, and the wound was completely healed over. After about five months the eyelid recovered its power of movement. A tiny transverse line across the lid is the only sign visible of the fragments borrowed from the frog.

An Englishman has patented a method of drying and purifying houses with damp walls, says the Commercial Advertiser. He employs a chemical hydroscopic substance such as calcium chloride, which is exposed in buckets or basins, or in perforated metal castings fitted within shallow earthenware or metal vessels. The room or building is carefully closed during the drying operation. It is claimed that the calcium chloride withdraws and destroys all bacteria and germs with the moisture.

In many ways the United States have educated the world in politics, and I, for one, do not hesitate to say that their scheme of government is the best that has ever been established by a nation. But in nothing do we owe more to the Americans than for their having afforded us the great object lesson of a state pursuing the even current of its way without meddling in the affairs of other states, which has been the bane of European Powers. And what is the result? No one dreams of attacking the United States or of picking a quarrel with them.—Labouchere.

A young North side beau paid devoted attention to a young lady on Chase avenue for a few weeks and then switched over and commenced a siege on the heart of the young lady directly across the street. The first named miss was highly insulted at the desertion, and now consoles herself by pounding the piano and singing that sentimental as well as warning ballad, "He is Fooling Thee," every time her erstwhile lover visits her rival.—Cincinnati Commercial Gazette.

Dr. Nansen will use on his Arctic expedition three brands of compressed food, the first being composed of beef, potatoes, mixed vegetables and vegetable fat; the second of barley, potatoes, ham and beef fat, and the third of anchovies, oatmeal, beef and animal and vegetable fat. It is said that, as all the water is extracted, these foods will not freeze in any temperature, however low.—New York Herald.

Messrs. Plympton and Lee, of the subway commission in Brooklyn, propose, if possible, to have the trolley cars in that city provided with a safety sliding platform in front, such as is in use on the Boston cars. The platform is a little lower than the floor of the car, and is intended to trip up a person with whom it comes in contact, causing him to fall on the platform instead of under the car.

The Bizet monument committee have expressed themselves well satisfied with the model made by M. Faiguer. There are two figures—one of a muse holding a violin in one hand and in the other a bust of the composer of "L'Arlésienne," and the other of a Carmen seated on the pedestal.—European edition of the Herald.

PERSONAL POINTS.

William Lawrence Poole, of New Orleans, who is eighty-nine years of age, is said to be the oldest editor in the United States. He was born in Portland, Me., and in 1823 he started the Charleston City Gazette to fight the "nullification" doctrine, and then went to New Orleans, where he was connected with several papers. Mr. Poole, during the "nullification" contest, was brought into relations with Jackson, and was afterward put in charge of work pertaining to the navy. He affirms that the establishment of the grade of admiral was due to his suggestion.

William R. Laidlaw, of New York, who failed to recover damages from Russell Sage for injuries received by the explosion of the dynamite bomb thrown by Norcross, is very ill at his home, No. 407 West Forty-first street, in that city. The doctors who are attending him think that his right foot will have to be amputated.

The Rev. D. F. Bradley, pastor of the Park Congregational church, of Grand Rapids, Mich., was born in Bangkok, Siam, in 1857, of missionary parents. He remained in Siam until 1857, acquiring, among other things, a knowledge of the Siamese language. He is a graduate of Oberlin college, Ohio.—New York Tribune.

"The Princess Wadobolsky, of St. Petersburg, Russia," says the New York Herald, "arrived on board the North German Lloyd steamer Wilhelm II. It is understood that she comes to visit the World's Fair and see the country. She will remain here a short time and then go west."

Van Leer Polk, of Nashville, Tenn., who has been appointed consul general to Calcutta, proposes to live and dress like the natives when he enters upon his duties. This he thinks is the only way to preserve one's health in a foreign country.

Secretary Daniel S. Lamont has leased the Wood house, on H street, near Seventeenth, in Washington, adjoining Senator Brice's residence, and will make his home there during his term of office.

Carl Luther, a counselor in the German ministry of labor, who died recently, was a direct descendant of Jacob Luther, the youngest brother of Martin Luther.

Henry O'Meara, of Boston, has been ordered to contribute a hymn for the Parliament of Religions, to be held at Chicago.

WIT AND WISDOM.

Fanny (who is studying her lesson)—Papa, what is the definition of volubility? Papa—Volubility is the distinguishing feature of a car driver when he is thirteen minutes behind schedule time on his supper-trip and an overloaded truck breaks down just in front of him on the rail.—Texas Siftings.

Ethel (rummaging in grandma's drawer)—Oh, grandma, what a curious old key this is! Grandma—Yes, my dear; that was your grandfather's latchkey. And you keep it in memory of old days? No, my dear; old nights.—Waf.

"I like you very much, Charlie, but I couldn't marry you. I don't think we could live happily together." "But, my dear Maude, reflect. After we were married I wouldn't be home very much."—Tid-Dits.

Although as a rule the girls are no admirers of stinginess, when the right fellow comes along, few of the fair ones object to a certain degree of closeness.—Hughes Courier.

"There's the devil to pay in this country," said the major. "Hang him!" cried the colonel; "money's too tight; let him wall, like everybody else."—Atlanta Constitution.

To be happy at home is the ultimate result of all ambition, the end to which every enterprise and labor tends, and of which every desire prompts the prosecution.—Johnson.

Chicago—Do you prefer Wagner or Pullman? Boston—I love Wagner, but I never was fortunate enough to hear an opera by—er—Pullman, did you say?—Chicago Tribune.

She—"I can't see any sense in calling them my sailing shoes." He—"Well, I notice you make about twenty knots an hour to keep them tied."—Inter Ocean.

Say nothing good of yourself, you will be distrusted; say nothing bad of yourself, you will be taken at your word.—Joseph Roux.

Angry Husband—I'm sorry I married you. Angry Wife—Well, I'm sure I never asked you to. (Husband is speechless.)—Fogey.

A General Restorative.

The above term more adequately describes the nature of Gilmore's Aromatic Wine than any other. The medicine has specific qualities, of course, as in cases of malarial disease, dyspepsia and liver complaint, but its invigorating and restorative qualities invest it with a health-giving potency made manifest throughout the system. Purify and activity of the circulation are induced by it, and it is especially recommended to kidney disease, rheumatism, neuritis and gout.

THE SITUATION.

Reaction Against Silver.

A reaction is undoubtedly setting in against extreme silver views in parts of the country where financial heresies (according to eastern ideas) have lately been cherished. Boards of trade even in the South and West are passing resolutions demanding the repeal of the Sherman law. Of course the ideas of their members as to what should be done when the present purchase of silver is stopped, would differ widely; but the bridge need not be crossed before it is reached.

The Hoarders.

Several instances of hoarding were mentioned in a recent article in this paper, and an important addition to them comes in the statement attributed to a prominent business man of St. Louis that since the beginning of the financial panic depositors in St. Louis banks have withdrawn $8,000,000 and placed the money in vaults. All the depositories have rented every box in their buildings, and it has been impossible to supply the demand.

Price of Silver.

There were produced last year about 175,000,000 ounces of silver and about 100,000,000 ounces were coined here and in India. There was no demand for all the balance in the arts and the price fell steadily until India stopped coining, when it slumped rapidly. Until the bi-metallic Congress represents the earth it will have hard work carrying out its present plans for enhancing the price of silver.

On the Mend.

With the signs of improvement and the New York banks complaining over the infliction of getting too much gold, things are decidedly on the mend. With the judicious action by Congress we may be in a position two or three months hence to wonder what the scare was about.

Affects Summer Resorts.

Between the World's Fair, which is attracting thousands of visitors to Chicago, and the Cleveland hard times, the lot of the summer resort proprietors is indeed unenviable.

The Circus Will Begin.

Two weeks from next Monday Congress convenes, and then the battle for the mastery between the "team of wild horses" and their driver, the President, will begin.

EDITOR JUDET INSULTED.

The Grounds Upon Which Clemenceau Refuses to Fight a Duel.
PARIS, July 23.—Clemenceau's refusal to fight Judet, the editor of the Petit Journal, is more talked about in Paris than the quarrel with Siam. The editor of a paper having a circulation so enormous that it is almost true its influence sways the political opinion of France, outside of Paris, has been made the object of the deadliest insult which could have been put upon him.

Clemenceau's seconds, deputies of good standing in the chambers, have certified that Judet by reason of part he took in circulating the Norton forgeries could not claim satisfaction under the code. In other words he is not a gentleman and cannot insult anybody. This is another and most effective step in revenge which Clemenceau is beginning to take against his enemies.

SOLDIERS' REUNION.

The "Old Original" Reunion to Be Held at Caldwell, Ohio.

The Soldiers' Reunion Association of Caldwell, Ohio, will hold its annual meeting this year on Friday and Saturday, August 25 and 26. A circular is issued by the chairman says: "The reunion will be held in the woods west of town, belonging to Fulton Caldwell, where General Sherman himself met us in 1874, at the first reunion ever held. All are invited. This is the reunion of reunions. The oldest of all and the best of all. It is the soldier's favorite reunion. It has never failed yet, and we feel a just pride in its history. No politics in our reunion. It will maintain its reputation this year, for the boys are coming and their presence secures success. There will be good speakers and good music. Come and tent two days and nights with us in the cool woods. Come the night before in delegations, singing the old songs in the cool, starry hours of summer night."

COMMISSIONER'S SALE

OF OHIO COUNTY REAL ESTATE

J. A. Monroe

Robert S. Williams and others.

In pursuance of a decree rendered on the 17th day of May, 1893, by the Circuit Court of Ohio County, West Virginia, in the above entitled cause, the undersigned appointed special commissioner for the purpose, will, on commencing at 10 o'clock a. m., sell at public auction at the north front door of the Court House of Ohio County, to the highest bidder, the property hereinafter described: That is to say, all that certain tract of land situated on the waters of Little Wheeling Creek, near Roanoke Point, Ohio County, West Virginia, and bounded and described as follows: Beginning at a stone, corner parcel, sold by Alexander Hunter, to a white walnut stump; thence north 57° east 30 poles to a dogwood; thence south 36° east 29.5 poles to a white oak; thence north 46° east 31.5 poles to a white walnut in the corner to lands of C. S. Terrell; thence north 41° west 63 poles to a white walnut stump; thence north 23° west 78.5 poles to a stone near run, corner to Frazer; thence with his line south 92° west 16.5 poles to a maple; thence south 49° west 13.15 poles to a white oak; thence south 51° west 45.5 poles to a stone; thence with the Williamson line south 35° east 10.5 poles to the place of beginning, and containing fifty-two acres and fifty-two poles, more or less. Saving and excepting from the above described tract the following described parcel, sold by Robert S. Williams and wife to John Phillips, as appears by deed dated September 23, 1868, and bounded as follows: Beginning at the elm, corner to Hines; thence north 45° east 31.5 poles to a place of beginning; thence north 63° east 23 poles along Higgs' line to the place of beginning, and containing five acres and seven poles.

Terms of Sale—One-third of the purchase money cash in hand on day of sale, and as much more as the purchaser may elect to pay, the balance in two equal installments at one and two years with interest from day of sale, the purchaser giving his notes with good personal security for the deferred payments. The interest on the second deferred installment payable annually, the title to be retained until the property is paid for. The property may be sold as a whole or in separate parcels as may be deemed best.
W. M. DUNLAP,
Special Commissioner.

I hereby certify that bond and security as required by law and the decree in this cause, has been given by the above named parties, and the commissioner.
